An advisory opinion adopted by AZBN is an interpretation of what the law requires. While an advisory opinion is not law, it is more than a recommendation. In other words, an advisory opinion is an official opinion of AZBN regarding the practice of nursing as it relates to the functions of nursing. Facility policies may restrict practice further in their setting and/or require additional expectations related to competency, validation, training, and supervision to assure the safety of their patient population and or decrease risk.

ADVISORY OPINION DUAL PROFESSION & DUAL NURSING OR HEALTH CARE LICENSURE/CERTIFICATION

The scope of practice for the Advanced Practice Registered Nurse (APRN) Registered Nurse (RN) and the Licensed Practical Nurse (LPN) is determined by the Arizona Nurse Practice Act. This Advisory Opinion addresses three scenarios: Nurses who hold dual professional licenses or certifications, dual nursing licenses or certifications, or dual health care licenses or certifications.

Dual Professionals:

A dual professional is an APRN, RN, or LPN who is licensed or certified in another profession (e.g. attorney or licensed psychologist). The dual-licensed nurse must always adhere to the statutes and rules pertaining to nursing. A nurse may not circumvent discipline for violating the nursing regulations by claiming to have been acting under the authority of another license or certificate. The licensee will be held to the standards of practice for their nursing license, regardless of other roles performed in the community.

Dual Nursing Licensure/Certification:

A person holds dual nursing license/certification if the nurse holds dual licensure/certification in the nursing profession (e.g., APRN, RN & LPN licensure). The nurse who holds dual licensure/certifications is accountable to the educational standard of the highest nursing credential held. For example, an RN employed and paid as an LPN remains accountable for the standard of practice of an RN.

Dual Healthcare Licensure/Certification:

A nurse has a dual healthcare licensure/certification if the registered, practical, or advanced practice registered nurse has acquired or developed a specialized knowledge base, (e.g. complementary and integrative therapies or additional healthcare licensure/certification such as radiologic technologist or respiratory therapist). The nurse who holds a dual healthcare licensure/certification remains accountable for the educational and patient advocacy standards of their highest level of nursing licensure, regardless of employment status.

Clarifying Points:

The Board of Nursing does not regulate employers, other healthcare disciplines, or other professions. If a nurse (APRN, RN, or LPN) who is also licensed or certified as and employed in a different field becomes the subject of a complaint to the Board, the Board will review the complaint in relation to the nurse's highest level of nursing licensure, regardless of employment.

Example: RN's employed as or who volunteer in the role of Emergency Medical Technician (EMT) must comply with the requirements for certification by the Division of Emergency Medical Services (EMS) but must also maintain standards of practice for an RN.

RATIONALE

The Arizona State Board of Nursing acknowledges that there are times when a nurse may be employed in a role that is different from the highest level of nursing licensure achieved or work in a separate health care discipline for which licensure/certification has been achieved. In this circumstance, the nurse maintains accountability for the standards of practice associated with the highest level of nursing licensure held.
